LA JOIE DE MER, or “Joy of the Sea”, stands as a testament to nautical prowess and refined comfort. Built in 2005 by Jongert and designed by Tony Castro, this 95'2" (29m) sailing yacht combines robust construction with lively sailing performance and modern amenities. LA JOIE DE MER has undergone key improvements in 2008 and 2011, optimizing her keel for heightened sailing performance, particularly excelling in light winds—an asset well-suited for Corinthian racing. Sail enthusiasts will appreciate the thoughtfully assembled sailing package, featuring a custom carbon Hall Spars mast, Park Avenue boom, rod rigging, Harken winches, and a captive main winch—all underscored by North 3DI sails. Rigorous maintenance includes a recent 5-year rig survey in fall 2023, ensuring optimal performance. Further enhancements include a full repaint of the yacht, a new night generator, stern thruster, batteries, mainsail, and galley equipment, ensuring seamless operations. The submarine anchor forward plus tender stowage in the aft garage provide clear deck space. The yacht's twin helm wheels look forward to inviting outdoor settee/lounge pads.
